CLAN NA GAEL PICNICS.

Two Sections of the Clan na Gael Society Hold Picnics.

Addresses Made by a Number of Prominent Gentlemen.

Cronimites and Anti-Cronimites Adopt Resolutions.

A Tribute to the Character of the Murdered Dr. Cronin.

Denouncing the Cronin Murder

CHELTENHAM BEACH, CHICAGO, August 15.—The friends of the late Dr. Cronin held a section of the annual Clan na Gael picnic here today with a large crowd present. The amusements consisted of athletic games which were followed this afternoon and evening by speeches by Congressman Foran of Cleveland, Hon. M. J. Ryan of Philadelphia, Congressman Lawler of Chicago, John Devoy of New York, and others. A long statement accompanying a preamble and resolutions were read and adopted. The resolutions recognize fealty to this nation as the first and highest obligation, and next thereafter pledges support to the cause of Irish liberty to be secured under the leadership of Parnell and Gladstone. The statement then reads:

Resolved, That we denounce with all the force of indignant language our utter abhorrence of the assassination reputed to be the murderers of Dr. Cronin to cover up the embezzlement of money and the betrayal of people whose devotion to the cause of liberty too often makes them the victims of designing knaves.

Resolved, That knowing Dr. P. H. Cronin to have been a patriotic, high minded, pure, Christian gentleman, he was utterly incapable of playing the roll of sycophant or of falsely living the life of a spy, and we brand as the most malicious libel the infamous report that he was the agent of England. On the contrary, knowing him to be the defender of honesty and truth, we hereby declare it to be our solemn conviction that for his faithful allegiance to the Irish cause, his honesty and truthfulness, he was foully murdered to prevent the exposure of actual criminals who have dragged down that cause in blood and tears, into the dust of our Gethsemane.

Resolved, That the crime of this most atrocious murder calls for all the energies of our civilization for the speedy and extreme punishment of the law, and we pledge our abiding support to the authorities until every guilty man shall have answered to the law for his participation in the most devilish murder which has reddened the annals of crime.

The anti Cronin section of the Clan na Gael demonstration at Ogdens grove was attended by a large crowd of people today. The speakers were escorted to the grove by the Clan na Gael guards, Hibernian rifles and Chicago rousers. It was after 1 o'clock when they arrived. They were Senator Thomas Grady, of New York, Rev. George W. Pepper, of Ohio, Hon. Nell Ryan of St. Louis, and Judge Fitzgerald, of Cincinnati. An address which was read and adopted by the audience, closed with a declaration of devotion to the laws and principles of the American republic and unchangeable sympathy with the cause of Irish liberty. The plan on which it is to be worked for it is to be decided by the people of Ireland themselves. The address continues:

"We recognize further that destitute of those means of asserting their liberty which would make revolution justifiable, we are willing to aid them in such peaceful measures as they may choose to adopt in bringing the government of England to a sense of the duty that it owes to justice and to humanity by restoring to the Irish people the right to make their own laws and to live in self respecting manhood upon their own soil.

"It has been asserted by those instrumental in covering us with defamation that we wish to screen the murderers of Dr. Cronin. We meet here to day among other reasons for the purpose of vehemently denouncing his atrocious murder, in our capacity as American citizens, but we hold that as Irish Americans we have no more right to be held responsible for that foul atrocity than has any other element of our body politic for crimes committed by persons to whom they are kindred.

"We earnestly hope that the officers authorized by law will succeed in bringing to justice the assassins of Dr. Cronin. We repudiate both as American citizens and as Irish Americans, the claim made by the enemies of our race that the Irish element has any desire or any purpose to make the soil of America the theatre of acts of vengeance because of feuds of factions or disagreements growing out of political differences or personal heart burnings.

"We return our sincere and most grateful thanks to Hon. John M. Thayer, governor of Nebraska, for his magnanimous defense of the honor of our race against the reckless slanders of a society of professional foreigners."

Ex Congressman Finerty made a stirring speech in which he denounced the Chicago press for its partisanship in the Cronin matter, intimating that the papers demands that the murderers be hunted to justice were really attempts to make the Irish people odious with the stigma of the Cronin murder.

At Cheltenham Beach the most sensational feature of the day was the denunciation of Davitt and Patrick Egan by John Devoy. This gentleman in a long and impassioned speech challenged not only the motives but the honesty and patriotism of both these well known Irishmen. Mr. Egan, the United States minister to Chili, was denounced as a sympathizer with the gang who instigated the murder of Cronin and with having used the prestige of his position to blacken Cronin's character. Congressman Lawler in a vigorous speech denounced Finerty as a liar, politician and scoundrel.

Tyson Reprieved

DENVER, August 15.—Governor Cooper this morning received from President Secretary Johnson a dispatch containing a draft of a reprieve for Murderer Tyson now under sentence of death. The reprieve provides for a respite of sixty days. Governor Cooper acted on this based on the communication from Warden Lamson of the Canon City penitentiary in reference to Tyson's sanity. The sixty days reprieve will allow time for the appointment of a commission to examine into Tyson's mental condition.

DES MOINES, Iowa, August 15.—At the twenty fifth ballot this morning the Iowa republican state convention nominated Hutchinson for governor. Poston was nominated for lieutenant governor.

The following were the other nominations: For supreme judge, Judge Seevers; for superintendent of public instruction, Henry Sabin; for railroad commissioner, Spencer Smith.

The platform endorses Harrison's administration, favors the enactment of the pension laws, favors protection, provided it does not foster monopolies and trusts, declares that trusts in the necessaries of life should be suppressed, and endorses the enforcement of the anti polygamy laws, and arbitration for the settlement of labor disputes. The convention adjourned this afternoon.

Railway Bridge Breaks Down

VINCENNES, Ind., August 15.—This evening at 5 o'clock the north bound passenger on the Fort Branch division of the Evansville and Terre Haute railway met with an accident by the breaking down of a small bridge, twelve miles north of Mount Vernon, which resulted in the serious injury of a dozen or more people. There were about thirty-five passengers on board and the train consisted of two passenger coaches, a baggage car and a flat car.

The locomotive rushed through the trestle work and got safely over but the baggage car broke through and was thrown off the rails and turned over the bridge, falling twenty feet, while the rear coach turned down the embankment. Baggagemaster Burns, of Henderson, Ky., was badly bruised and had one of the most remarkable escapes from a horrible death on record. When the crash occurred the safe in his car was knocked out of position and thrown against Mr. Burns. He was knocked out of the side door of the car to the ground below, fully twenty feet, where he lay stunned and unable to move. He fell in a sort of depression which the car in just left rolled over him with a terrific crash. His escape from instant death is unaccountable. Mrs. Grace of Princeton was badly bruised and injured about the head. Mrs. Hopkins of Ridgeway, Ill., was injured internally and cut about the head and face and other passengers were more or less seriously injured.

Another Young Cattle Dealer

BOULDER, Colo., August 15.—Robert Effingham, treasurer of Boulder county for the last six years died suddenly at Hot Sulphur Springs on Tuesday.

Fleets to be Arrested

STOCKTON, Cal., August 15.—A warrant was issued to day for the arrest of Stephen J. Field on the complaint of Mrs. Sarah Althea Terry, who charges him with complicity in the killing of her husband David S. Terry, at Lathrop yesterday. Sheriff Cunningham left here for San Francisco this afternoon to arrest Justice Field. The attorneys who have been engaged to conduct the defense of Deputy Marshal Nagle promised that Justice Field would appear when wanted, but Mrs. Terry's complaint was made against both. The funeral of Judge Terry will be held on Friday. The body is still at the morgue. Mrs. Terry has not left it at any time.

The Terry Killing.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 15.—The killing of David S. Terry yesterday by Deputy Marshal Nagel is still the chief topic of discussion here though no developments have at all equalled what was outlined in the dispatches yesterday. Justice Field resumed his judicial duties to day and sat in the circuit court with Judge Sawyer and Judge D. S. Brewer of Kansas. He referred freely in conversation with attorneys and business men to the exciting incidents of yesterday's tragedy. He is still constantly under the protection of a deputy marshal, as is also Judge Sawyer.

The preliminary hearing of Deputy Marshal Nagel will come up before the justice of the peace at Stockton on Wednesday next. A strong effort will be made after the examination is concluded, and if it is refused the matter will be appealed. United States Marshal Frank has secured from Nagel the details of the affair. Nagel says he is confident that Terry drew back his hand after striking Justice Field for the purpose of pulling from his coat a knife he was presumed to carry, as he once made an affidavit that he was always armed. It is the theory of those about the United States marshal's office that Mrs. Terry, when she threw herself on her husband's body took a weapon from him, though which the body was [illegible] was found.

The warrant on which the arrest of Justice Field is expected to be made was issued by Justice of the Peace H. V. Swain of Stockton and addressed to the sheriff of this county. The sheriff cannot serve it in this city until to night and it is thought probable that he will not attempt to serve the warrant until to morrow. No course has been outlined by the friends of Justice Field as to the action he will take under the circumstances beyond a written statement by his attorneys for Nagel in Stockton to day that Justice Field would appear at any time if wanted. The warrant for the arrest of Justice Field was issued solely on the complaint of Mrs. Terry who did not witness the shooting so far as the evidence given before the coroner shows.

There are no 60 or 80 feet streets, and narrow, 10-feet alleys, such as are found in other loudly advertised "Additions," with high sounding titles, where you pay high prices for lots, without duly considering that you are throwing away your money.

In the Alley Behind Every Lot in Parrish's Addition

There is a 3-inch Water Pipe, connected at Chestnut street with a 16-inch main: the Largest in the City's System. THE MAIN CITY DITCH, taking pure, clear water from the Fountain, runs just back of PARRISH'S ADDITION, and within a stone's throw of it.

GENERAL STEVENSON.

For the second time in its history Colorado Springs has the honor and pleasure of welcoming Hon. A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois.

Perhaps no state in the union has contributed more prominent men to the public life of the last generation in proportion to population than Illinois. The reason for this is not difficult to discover. From its earliest settlement the population which has gathered within the borders of the state has been marked by energy and intelligence and progress. Among the many able and distinguished sons of Illinois who are prominently before the public view of to-day none occupy a higher rank than General Stevenson. He is a politician and a good one, but he has never been known as either a corruptionist or a trickster. He has not a little of the statesman in his make up. He has always been loyal to his friends, and notwithstanding the many bitter political contests he has taken a leading part in, he has shown a remarkable faculty for retaining his friends. He has made some enemies. It would be remarkable if he had gained the prominent position he holds without having excited jealousies and antagonisms. But his enemies cannot fail to respect him, for he has both in public and private life made himself worthy of both respect and admiration.

President Cleveland called General Stevenson to one of the most important places within his gift, that of first assistant postmaster general. While the lack of regard for the civil service has by him during the time he held the position was much criticised and in many cases deservedly so, there will be few persons willing to say that on the whole the mail service was not the better for General Stevenson's having held the place. The reforms brought to bear during President Cleveland's term in the direction of civil service reform were greater than at any time in the previous history of the country, and Stevenson, having more of the offices within his control felt the force of the pressure to a greater extent than any man connected with the administration. If he had disregarded the demands of the spoilsmen and followed his own inclinations there would no doubt have been less criticism for while he may not have been in sympathy with the reform his inclinations were in the direction of the enforcement of the law.

There were not a few candidates of high standing in the ranks of the party, in the St. Louis convention who both because of their warm friendship and admiration for Stevenson and because they thought it politically a good move would have been glad to see his name placed with that of Cleveland on the national ticket. There are not a few delegates who think to-day that had Stevenson's name been placed on that ticket the party would not have met defeat last November. But in the wave of enthusiasm which swept the convention for the Ohio sage all else was forgotten and the die was cast for Thurman fortunately for Stevenson, for neither he nor any other man could have saved the doomed ticket of 1888. The Illinois man was saved from defeat and lives to fight another day. It is generally understood that had Cleveland been re-elected Stevenson would have been called to the cabinet table as postmaster general, but with the defeat of his party he has been for the present retired to private life. But he is ambitious and able, and no one who knows him will believe that his retirement is anything more than a temporary rest, unless it be that his political beliefs will prevent his further advancement. It is not improbable that he will be the democratic candidate for governor of Illinois at the next election nor is it unlikely that he will be placed on the national ticket in 1892. In any case he will probably continue for a long time to hold a high place in the ranks of his party. His influence there is of the kind the democracy needs. It is always on the direction of better things.

The Great Sun Council.

DENVER, August 15.—The sixth Great council of the Red Men of Colorado opened in executive session this morning with closed doors with Great Sachem Henry Klefus upon the throne. The session was devoted entirely to the consideration of business of a private nature and was carefully guarded from the public.

The principal business this morning was the trial of a chief who has been accused of dereliction of duty, but his identity could not be learned nor the particulars. [illegible] the ensuing year was to have been taken up and disposed of, but other business crowded it over until to-morrow.

There are fully 1,600 Red Men in the city to-day and the wonderful growth and prosperity of the order during the past great sun has filled them with the utmost enthusiasm. Within this sun four new tribes have been instituted as follows: Pueblo No. 11, Piute No. 12, Pawnee No. 16 and Red Cloud No. 14, and Blazing Arrow No. 3 was reorganized at Idaho Springs. Pueblo tribe No. 11 has a membership of over 200 and has over $1,000 in the treasury. Piute No. 12 has a membership of 75 and is in a thriving condition. Pawnee tribe No. 13 meets at Colorado Springs. It has a membership of 60. Red Cloud No. 14, the only Sweet Water tribe in the United States, was organized on the 1st day of April, 1889, and to-day has a membership of over 100.

[illegible] Signing.

BRUSSELS, Minn., August 15.—The first word received from the Indian commission at Leech Lake reservation came this morning by a half breed. He says the villagers on that reservation are in a deadly quarrel over the presence of the commission, and about equally divided as between those who are willing to sign and those opposed the latter threatening death to the first person who does sign. As a consequence none have yet signed, and the commissioners have devoted their whole efforts so far as to prevent a conflict. The runners state that the Indians are fully armed with Winchester rifles and have gone so far as to threaten all the whites on the reservation. The commissioners are safely lodged at a ranch. They have sent another runner out probably with dispatches for the government. It is reported that Young Buck, a relative of Flat Mouth, was shot for favoring signing.

Has Junketing.

MANCHESTER, N. H., August 15.—President Harrison took a drive among the mills this morning, after which he left, amid cheers, on a special train for Concord.

CONCORD, N. H., August 15.—Public and private buildings were decorated to-day in honor of the president. On the arrival of the president and party they were driven through the drizzling rain to the capitol, where the governor and other state officials welcomed them. Harrison was then presented to the legislature in joint session. He made a brief address, which was without political significance and then the legislature adjourned and its members were presented to the president.

The president was then conducted to a stand in front of the capitol, where the governor introduced him to the people. He was greeted with cheers and spoke a few patriotic words, contrasting his situation when surrounded by selfish place hunters with that when confronting the men and women of the people, whose highest criterion is good government. A collation at the Parker house followed.

Shot in Railway.

RAHWAY, N. J., August 15.—J. W. Ackerman last evening shot and probably fatally wounded his son in law, J. H. Thorpe. The shooting was the result of a family quarrel of long standing over the disposition of seven thousand dollars, which Ackerman claims Thorpe defrauded him of. The affair created great excitement as the parties are prominent and well known in the city.

A Compliment of a War.

Judge's Weekly.

I. B. Scott of Rockford, Ill., has a collection of more than thirty antique watches. They are rare old specimens, being of Swiss and London make, and many of them having been entirely manufactured by hand. They are all of old and odd patterns. Mr. Scott fondles them with parental affection and never tires of explaining their intricacies.

"You have heard of a Tobias watch," he will remark, divine into the chest containing them. "Here is one; it was made ninety years ago. Here's a rare old watch; it was Jurgensen. The train wheels are of solid gold, and there are twenty one rubies in it."

Mr. Scott has a number of chronometer movements and one old pendulum movement. He has several repeating watches that strike hours, quarters and minutes. One odd watch has figures on the dial plate to represent a woman striking a bell, and the hammer moves when the watch strikes. Altogether it is a rare collection.

She Loved the Old Clock.

Chicago Journal.

He was a clock agent, and as the lady of the house opened the door he caught a glimpse of the ancient timepiece which, showing the fortunes of the family, had crossed the seas, and "come to America." He made his offer and this was the reply: "Exchange my clock! Is it me? What would I be doin' with wan of the little, buzzing, whirring, clattlin' things they sell in the shops here, indeed, and I'll not exchange yon clock. Don't keep good time? Well, for forty years my husband has gone to his business when that clock told him to, and I've had his dinner ready for him when the clock said, and the children have all gone to school by the face of the clock, and it struck for the church going and the burnings, and the outgoings, and the home goings. Nothing has ever been done in my family but clock knows to that clock. And now ye come here speaking ill of it, and wanting me to exchange its respectable old face, and its self respecting voice for a thing all pickelplating and glasscrackery, and busy and whirr that has to have its innards examined every few weeks? Get out with you, ye spalpeen!"

And he got.

A Trousseau of a Duke.

The [illegible] will [illegible] later [illegible] the [illegible] of the wedding [illegible] of the Duke [illegible], who was recently married to the Duke of Fife, and lest the [illegible] greater and the number have not [illegible] the [illegible] subject full justice, here is the official description thereof from the pen of the fashion editor of The London Pall Mall Budget:

"The train is three yards long [illegible] of white [illegible] and out. The white satin bodice is nearly covered with the old lace, and so is the high Medici collar. The 'going away' dress is a [illegible] of white Sicilian silk trimmed with per-row skirt, of biscuit color [illegible] lace. The front of the skirt is plain. The silk bodice is draped on the right side with silk from the shoulder, and [illegible] on the left side. Over this pretty gown the bride will wear a traveling cloak of white cloth in the Russian regular shape, with high [illegible] and a Medici collar. The inside of this high collar is filled in with ostrich feather trimming, and the same trimming carried down on both sides of the cloak from the waist to the feet looks like a long boa. The going away hat is of white drawn silk lined red, round the brim with a [illegible] trimmed with heather and white velvet. The [illegible] are of white velvet."

[illegible] OF THE [illegible] LOUISE

Joseph's Pants.

My little 2-year-old has added something new to the store of Joseph and his brethren. I told him the Bible version of the story, and he seemed much interested in Joseph's coat of many colors. When I had finished he said: "Papa, tell me about his pants." H. [illegible]

Maker.

Better than Conquest.

Youth's Companion.

While several of the powers of the old world are extending their colonial empires—England and Germany annexing vast regions in eastern Africa, France in western Africa and Annam, Italy on the borders of the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden—the United States gains certain decided advantages abroad without departing from its traditional policy of abstaining from seeking foreign possessions.

The extension of American influence is not based upon the assertion of political power, but upon friendliness and commerce. As long ago as 1835 this country made a commercial agreement with the sultan of Zanzibar, and its merchants gained a foothold in that country which has given them a preponderance over European traders to this day.

The policy toward Japan, friendly as its main features have been, productive of much benefit to our citizens as well as to the Japanese, and only lately the Japanese government has granted to American merchants an important extension of privileges.

In the islands of the Pacific [illegible] reciprocity, or mutual trade free from tariff, with the Hawaiian kingdom, in 1876. American business with the islands has grown so greatly that they seem to have become, commercially and financially, at least a part of the United States.

Americans are said to be, indeed, in practical control of the political affairs of the kingdom, but so far as this is true it is true only of Americans who have become citizens of the Hawaiian kingdom, and whose influence comes from their prominence in the community, not by their own efforts.

This government exercises no material control of Hawaii, and has no formal protectorate, such as European governments usually make in the case of weaker nations, an intermediary step to actual annexation. And yet its influence and interest in the Sandwich Islands are quite as completely respected by foreign powers as if it had assumed actual charge of the affairs of the kingdom. At present there seems to be no need of a closer connection. Whether or not there must be actual union by and by the future must determine.

American business with Hawaii, chiefly growing out of the trade in sugar, which has been greatly stimulated by the reciprocity treaty, has become so important that a company has been formed to lay a cable from San Francisco to Honolulu.

As a submarine telegraph between the two cities is estimated to cost about $1,500,000, the extent of the legitimate trade which makes the connection worth so large an expenditure is quite plain.

Very far the greater part of all the goods which the Hawaiians import is of American production, just as this country is almost the only market for their own products. And the development of their trade with the United States has had the effect to reform their country from a state of decline into which it had fallen prior to the negotiation of the reciprocity treaty.

The relations between the two countries are based upon fairness and consideration of mutual advantage. If we had taken and held Hawaii by force of the sword it is not likely that the connection with the islands would have been so profitable to Americans as it is now, and it is certain that our relations with the native inhabitants would not have been so agreeable.

The club of the Cordeliers, to which the Hebertists belonged, and which is so well set in the Revolution, is not clearly so famous as a separate body from the Jacobin club. The Cordeliers was from 1790 a distinctive organization, it derived its name from meeting in the monastery of that order had stood, and which it [illegible] bled in its democratic character and its disregard of property.
